Are you looking for a new or replacement ERP system? Perhaps an upgrade from a legacy system, or a switch from SAP or Oracle? Then don't miss this Manufacturing Business Technology (MBT) Magazine webcast replay:

ERP system from Microsoft prompt healthy advantage, visible gains

Security products leader KABA Corporation stays flexible using cost-effective Microsoft Dynamics AX

KABA Corp. holds fast to its competitive advantage using a business model that responds to a quick-changing market, yet still serves the needs of its most important customers.

To do that, KABA—one of the world's leading security companies, with 5,900 employees across four divisions—makes use of an enterprise resource planning (ERP) system that KABA VP Thomas Boswell says "has flexibility and ease of use unmatched in the ERP marketplace, at a significantly lower total cost of ownership."

Choosing an ERP system based predominantly on the Microsoft infrastructure, KABA's system implementation was supported by deployment partner Fullscope picked for its strong manufacturing and distribution expertise, as well as its cultural synergy.
